Newcomers dominate school board elections in Upland

Only two of five incumbents were reelected Tuesday to school boards in the Upland, Chaffey Joint Union High School, and Chaffey Community College districts.

In the Upland School District, newcomers Dina Ross Hunter, Robert W. Ellis and Dale Owen Anderson outdistanced the only other candidate, incumbent William G. Hutson, by several hundred votes.

In the Chaffey High School District, incumbents G.A. Chalfant and Martha Chapman, both of Ontario and newcomer Charles Uhalley of Cucamonga were elected to the three open seats on the board.

And both incumbents in the Chaffey College election were easily beaten by newcomers Kenneth C. Ketner of Alta Loma and Sharon Jeffers of Norco, breaking the monopoly on board representation claimed by Upland during the past few years. Before this election, all board members were residents of Upland.

Upland Elementary

Hunter led the field with 1,946 or 26.9 per cent of the total votes, followed closely by Anderson, 1,897 (26.2 per cent), and Ellis, 1,887 (26.0 per cent). Hutson had 1,500 (20.7 per cent) votes.

Anderson listed financial responsibility, school crowding, and employer-employe relations as important issues for the district. He has taught in the Chaffey High School District for 10 years and has been active in Boy Scouts and church for many years.

Ellis said education of youth is the only issue facing the district and noted communication and leadership are particularly important in providing a good education. He has taught high school social studies and Spanish for 11 years and holds a master's degree in secondary school administration.

Hunter did not announce her platform to the News.

Chaffey High District

Mrs. Chapman led all candidates with 4,458 or 14.6 per cent of the total vote, followed closely by Chalfant, 4,364 (14.3 per cent), and Uhalley, 3,976 (13.0 per cent).

In her campaign for reelection, Mrs. Chapman listed the need for school facilities to meet growing population needs, emphasis on educational basics, and improving communication as the most important needs for the district.

She has served on the high school board four years. She has served as board clerk and represented the district on the Baldy View Regional Occupational Program (ROP) Commission.

Chalfant listed curriculum, competency evaluation and classroom facilities as the most important issues for the district. He has been a school board member eight years, serving as board president the last three years.

Uhalley listed quality of education, school financing and board of trustees leadership as the most important issues facing the district. He is an attorney.

Other candidates and the number of votes they received are : Paul Gomez, 1623; Excell N. Hunter, 594; Patrick E. McHugh, 895; Clifford L. Sumrall, 1,882; Maxine Curtis; 3,699; Ralph F. Langley, 3,958; Robert C. Beam, 1,964; William C. Draper, 1,776; and Frank A. Brown, 1,276.

Chaffey College

Ketner and Mrs. Jeffers beat their nearest competitors by nearly a thousand votes apiece with 7,787 and 7,752, respectively.

In his campaign Ketner said his major concerns, which affect the educational efficiency of the community, are declining enrollment, proliferation of administrative costs, and the oversight responsibility of a board member. He is a financial investment consultant.

Mrs. Jeffers listed decreases in enrollment, meeting the needs and wishes of the people, and proper utilization of funds as the most important issues in her campaign.

Mrs. Jeffers, who holds tow degrees in law with background in the sciences, has held jobs in medical, health and legal fields.

Other candidates and the number of votes received include: John L Botkin, 1,067; William H. Thompson, 4,158; Georgia W. Mellon (incumbent), 6,925; Merle K. Cox (incumbent), 6,784; Charles F. Rector, 708; Dale D. Vorgen, 1,319; and William A. Russell, 2,237.

Council creates new board, oks architectural guidelines

By Lynne Locke

Upland City Council Monday night took two actions aimed at smoothing relations between developers and the city.

In unanimous votes, the council approved formation of a building code appeals board and approved architectural guidelines. Councilman Hal Bailin was not present.

The building code appeals board, formed on recommendation of the city staff, will provide an independent group of "knowledgeable" people to hear appeals on building code matters, according to City Manager Lee Travers.

The appeals board will consider cases in which a builder's interpretation of the Uniform Building Code differs from the interpretation of the city staff.

Travers noted the appeals board would be composed of experts in the building fields — possibly including an architect, municipal building official, fire marshal and other experts — all from outside the city so they would be free of pressure and bias.

The board would hear the builder's appeal and then make a recommendation to the City Council, which would have the final decision in all appeal cases.

Mayor pro tem John McCarthy said the board would be "useful" because it will be a "neutral body."

In the past when a builder questioned the interpretation or administration of the building codes, the council had "to rely on the expertise of the staff, which is exactly what the person (bringing the appeal) is questioning," he noted.

Councilwoman Ina Petokas said the board of experts will provide a review and recommendation of "a fair way" to solve problems, but the council will still have the ultimate responsibility.

The building code appeals board is expected to be called into session infrequently — only when an appeal is lodged or the council refers a matter for recommendation.

Appeals board members will be named following recommendations from council members and the city staff.

In other action Monday night the council approved architectural guidelines for development within the city.

The guidelines, which have been formulated after months of discussion between developers and the city staff, provide guidelines on requirements for processing the development through the Architectural Commission.

The guidelines also provide general standards on design features which effect "aesthetic, environmental and humanistic characteristics."

The guidelines, as adopted by the council, include two standards developers do not agree with:

— A requirement that rooftop equipment be screened for a distance of 700 feet.

— A requirement that industrial property be screened along the railroad tracks as well as along streets.

Planning Director Bill Young had said it was unlikely that city planners and the developers could "come any closer to total agreement" on the guidelines.

The council approved the guidelines after McCarthy noted the guidelines can be adjusted in "hardship" cases or if the Architectural Commission "goes overboard" on any of the standards.

Also Monday night the council:

— Approved an agreement with the City of Montclair for construction and operation of signal lights at Seventh Street and Benson Avenue. Upland will bear half of the cost for installation and maintenance of the signals.

— Approved raises for five categories of employes to bring the salaries into line with those paid throughout the area. Classifications affected include police dispatcher; engineering aides I, II and III; and library clerk I.

— Declined to take action on raises for the city clerk, personnel officer and recreation director. Raises for the three positions were recommended on the basis of salaries paid for similar positions throughout the area.

— Approved a grant application of $48,750 of state funds for completing development of Citrus Park. The state funds would be matched by $16,250 of city funds.

— Approved a resolution urging San Bernardino County to split state park funds by population rather than allocating a certain amount to regional parks and the remainder to cities as in the past. The resolution noted that residents of unincorporated areas also use city parks.

— Approved an appeal by C and M Homes requesting "relief from the provisions of the moratorium" on residential building in the city. The council gave permission for the developer to file a tentative subdivision map for a five-acre parcel northwest of 14th Street and Campus Avenue.

Council members noted the applicant already has approval for development on a adjacent 15-acre, parcel and development of the five-acre parcel would improve the neighborhood.

— Upheld a decision that a sign permit must be obtained even if the sign is not visible from a public street. City codes require a permit whenever a sign is changed substantially or the building owner is changed.

Terry Dunn, of D. and M. Communications, 1239 W. Ninth St., had argued against the permit requirement noting that the sign is the same size as under the previous owner and cannot be seen from a public street.

Mayor Gibson calls for water conservation

Upland Mayor George Gibson has proclaimed a "water conservation period" for the city of Upland. The procla ation calls on Upland residents to "maximize efforts to conserve water in their daily home life and business" during the spring of 1977.

The City Council as a whole recently rejected implementation of a water rate structure which would have encouraged water conservation.

Gibson based his call for water conservation on the "severe drought situation" faced by the state of California and noted that Northern California is particularly affected by the lack of rain.

Southern California has developed "more sophisticated and drought - resistant water supplies" than Northern California, the proclamation states.

"IT appears a humanitarian approach would call for Southern California to reduce significantly, if not totally, its usage of Northern California water during the current drought season," the proclamation concludes.

The city staff in December 1976 had urged the council to adopt a rate structure which would have provided a lower rate for residents who use less water.

The inverted rate structure would have set higher unit costs for large residential water users. Under past systems high water users have received "bulk" rates.

The proposed structure would have allowed homeowners — especially those with small yards and who those who are on fixed incomes — to control their water charges by limiting water use.

But the inverted rate structure would have hit homeowners the hardest during summer months when water use is increased to maintain landscaping.

Council members rejected the inverted rate structure, apparently because of the impact it would have on landscaping throughout the city.

Residents testified they would have to let the city's street trees and shrubs go unwatered if water rates were increased, and Councilman Hal Bailin noted the inverted structure would undermine the city's attempt to encourage larsger sized lots and increased landscaping and parkways.

In addition, the council members noted at that time, homeowners and businesses would not be charged the same water rate and businesses would not be subject to the inverted rate structure.

Water Utility Director Harry Rhorbach had defended the inverted rate structure by noting that over-use of water will result in importing water at a considerably higher cost to all users.

In rejecting the high use penalty, the council approved a straight 25 per cent increase in water costs along with a "lifeline" rate concept for those who use very small amounts of water.

County supervisors adopt water conservation policy

By PETER WONG

Following the lead of Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr., the county board of supervisors adopted a water conservation policy Monday.

Unlike Brown's program — which in part has called for a voluntary 25 per cent cut in water use to relieve drought-stricken Northern California — the policy the supervisors adopted is likely to lead to mandatory water conservation measures.

Supervisor James L. Mayfield of Apple Valley urged the imposition of stiff measures, saying, "I just think there have been so many things in this state and country which we said should be permissive that people are not going to change their habits and lifestyles (without curbs)."

The residents of the desert district he represents, Mayfield said, would go along "with more stringent conservation measures than would perhaps be the case."

Robert B. Rigney, administrator of the county's Environmental Improvement Agency, said the policy the supervisors were being asked to approve would lead to specific restrictions on water use.

The supervisors would consider proposed ordinances implementing the policy within the next few weeks, Rigney said.

In brief, the supervisors told the Environmental Improvement Agency and department directors to:

—Reevaluate landscaping requirements for new homes and other developments. Although the planning department may choose to save water by reducing or eliminating required landscaping, it may also call for the use of landscaping which requires less frequent irrigation — or the use of more efficient watering systems.

The latter steps would be more likely to satisfy advocates of community beautification.

—Require the installation of such water-saving devices as low-flush toilets and flow-control heads in showers and the insulation of hot water lines and tanks in all new and remodeled buildings. Those proposals will be reviewed by the building and safety department.

If insulation is required for hot water tanks and lines, energy used in heating the water would also be saved.

—Inform the special districts governed by the supervisors how they can save water. The districts provide a variety of governmental services — fire protection, parks and recreation programs, and so forth — to residents in unincorporated areas.

Water conservation tips would also be distributed to cities, municipal water districts and companies, to be made available to the residents they serve.

—Encourage industrial and agricultural water users to recycle waste water or runoff water which might otherwise be discharged.

Supervisor Dennis Hansberger of Yucaipa called for a "sunset approach" to mandatory water conservation measures. The measures would then on expire a certain date, at which time the supervisors could reconsider their need.

Water conservation measures, however much they may be needed now, "will not be well received by the public if in fact the emergency itself abates at a later date," Hansberger said.

Mayfield's objection to recreational lakes, "which are a flagrant waste of water," drew a sharp response from Supervisors' Chairman Robert O. Townsend of Chino.

"It's not a waste," Townsend said about the lake in Prado Regional Park south of Chino. The lake consists of treated waste water, which is also used to irrigate the park grounds, he said.

(Mayfield was apparently referring to the filling of Lake Mission Viejo in Orange County. By a 4-1 vote last week, the state Water Resources Control Board ordered the filling stopped.)

Townsend said he was concerned about providing adequate water for agriculture "to provide food for our residents."

Rigney said later that even if the drought were ended and water supplies were replenished, the rising cost of energy used in pumping water from underground basins may require continued efforts for water conservation.

SANBAG supports freeway

Support for the Foothill Freeway extension through Upland and Alta Loma was voted Wednesday by the San Bernardino Associated Governments (SANBAG), the county's transportation planning board.

SANBAG's recommendation in favor of retaining the route was made as district officials of the California Department of Transportation (Caltrans) were preparing to send a report to department headquarters in Sacramento.

Jack E. Peddy, Caltrans director in the district which includes San Bernardino County, said local Caltrans staffs have finished compiling information for the report, which will be submitted later this month.

However, Peddy didn't say what his recommendation — if any — to Caltrans Director Adriana Gianturco will be.

Two months ago, local Caltrans officials told a hearing at Upland City Hall that because no state funds for freeway construction would be available "within the foreseeable future," the freeway route may well be dropped from the state highway system.

GIVE YOUR APPLIANCES THE AFTERNOON OFF.

Most of the electricity we generate is needed by factories, farms and offices—so people can make a living. The greatest demand for this electricity is during the day. You need electricity to run appliances in your home, too. And the greatest demand for this electricity is also during the day.

Here's the problem: Because of the growing demand for electricity during the day, we'll have to build more power plants. And building power plants today is more expensive. That drives up the cost of electricity to everybody.

Now there's something we all can do to help: Spread the use of electricity more evenly around the clock. Edison is working with large industrial customers to help them find ways to shift some of their electric use to the evening hours. But most people prefer to work during the day, so there's only so much industry can do without drastic rescheduling of work shifts.

It's afternoon use of electricity that's the biggest problem. So you can help by doing some of your daily routine at night or in the morning. Perhaps you can wash and dry your clothes at night. Use your dishwasher at night. Iron in the evening. Bake in the morning.

It means changing your routine a bit. But if we do use electricity wisely, it will help to hold down the cost in the future.

Goggin proposes election to control tricommunity growth

By PETER WONG

An election to allow voters in Alta Loma, Cucamonga and Etiwanda to decide whether they want additional home construction was proposed by Assemblyman Terry Goggin.

Goggin, a Democrat whose 66th Assembly District includes the unincorporated foothill communities, told a conference on West End growth he will introduce a bill in the state legislature to make the election possible.

Goggin, whose proposal would impose a moratorium on issuance of building permits for home construction until the election is held, was booed by some developers among the 300 people who attended the Ontario High School conference as he finished his remarks.

"I'm sure there'll be a lot of controversy about this proposal. But it does give the opportunity to an area which does not have local control to have local control (over growth)," Goggin said.

County Supervisor Joseph Kamansky, whose district includes the tri-communities, indicated that he wouldn't support Goggin's proposal. "He invited himself," Kamansky said.

Goggin said he hadn't solicited the support of the West End's two other state legislators — Assemblyman William McVittie and Sen. Ruben S. Ayala — for the proposed election, which would be held after June.

He didn't say whether such an election could be consolidated with one in which residents of the tri-communities would be asked to decide whether they want to incorporate as a single city — a step which would cut election costs.

(Although the county board of supervisors has not set a date for the incorporation election, recent action by the Local Agency Formation Commission may allow it to be held as early as November.)

The bill has not been assigned to an Assembly committee by Speaker Leo McCarthy, but Goggin said afterward he believes it will be heard by the Assembly Local Government Committee.

Goggin said he intended to introduce the special election proposal as an urgency measure, which would require a two-thirds vote of both the Assembly (54 of 80 votes) and Senate (27 of 40 votes).

Goggin said he drafted his proposal with special attention to the estimated 7,000 subdivision lots in the tri-communities on which homes can be built — and which are not affected by the limited moratorium imposed by county supervisors Dec. 20.

The moratorium, which applies only to the filing of new subdivision plans, is scheduled to be lifted March 20. County supervisors will hear a plan on how future growth can be guided March 14.

"The pressure to build those 7,000 homes immediately has now become almost irresistible," Goggin said. "So all of the developers from Beverly Hills, from Orange County are moving to develop immediately ... so that they can't be stopped."

The impact of such growth upon schools and the regional sewage treatment system would be "absolutely devastating," he said. "I can tell you that the people of the tri-communities have had it."

Goggin's proposal would require residents' approval of further home construction "as part of a plan for orderly development of their community."

Such an election may be without precedent. Voters and city councils have enacted plans to restrict residential growth by controlling the timing and sequence of development.

And last year, the U.S. Supreme Court upheld the constitutionality of an ordinance under which residents of an Ohio town have the power to enact rezonings by popular vote.

Goggin said his bill would not deprive the county or other government agencies of their present power to curb residential growth.

Accused later of trying to encourage no-growth policies and resulting unemployment, Goggin said residents are free to approve the present rate of growth in such an election.

And pointing to the 9.6 per cent unemployment rate in the Ontario-Riverside-San Bernardino metropolitan area reported in January, Goggin said, "There's nothing I want more than jobs ... jobs through orderly growth, growth that makes sense, that doesn't result in the kind of problems you've heard here tonight."

Chaffey emeriti share spotlight

Two Chaffey College emeriti will share the spotlight at the Founders' Day Convocation at 11 a.m. March 18 in the Little Theater.

Harry D. Wiser, president of Chaffey College from 1966 to 1970, will be the convocation speaker. Gretchen Lizer Ulf, who retired as speech teacher at the college in 1967, will be named citizen of the year.

Dr. Wiser's Founders' Day address, "Junior Grows Up," will deal with the origin, evolution and growth of the community college movement.

The Wiser tenure at Chaffey College was highlighted by completion of the Forum building, the Daniel B. Milliken Planetarium, the bookstore building and the Little Theater and library expansions.

During his time at the college, Dr. Wiser was a prime mover in the development of the student self-help agency, which bears his name. The Harry D. Wiser Actuation Center, a gathering place for ethnic minorities and economically disadvantaged students, is a power on campus and the community.

Mrs. Ulf has delivered "Meals on Wheels" for the past four years. Since 1975, she has served as president of the Pomona Valley East Division of California Retired Teachers and as program chairman for Claremont Manor. In an earlier four-year stint, she recorded for the blind.

Other Founders' Day activities include "Zeta Reticuli Indicent," a UFO encounter that studies the possibility of life 55 light years from earth, in the Daniel B. Milliken Planetarium, 10 to 11 a.m; a color slide show of previous top exhibits in the Rex W. Wignall Museum-Gallery, 10 to 11 a.m. and noon to 12:30 p.m.

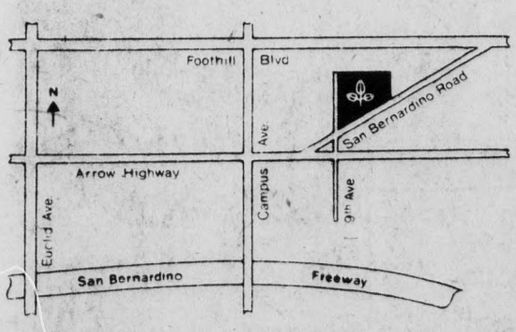

A Founders' Day luncheon with an alumni presentation of a photo portrait of Charles J. Booth, director of the college, to a representative from the board of trustees will be made in the cafeteria from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m.

The Town Crier

Mark home possessions

To help citizens of Upland better understand their city's responsibilities and to get answers on city government, John Shoemaker, Upland community relations coordinator, is bringing City Hall to the people through the courtesy of the Upland News. The column "The Town Crier" is designed to be informative on all issues of city government.

To reach "The Town Crier," write: Community Relations, City of Upland, 460 N. Euclid Ave., Upland, CA 91786. Persons should include their name, address and telephone number. Only initials will be listed in the column.

QUESTION: I have heard the term "public right-of-way" used. Can you please explain it to me? F.P.

ANSWER: The public right-of-way normally begins at a point six inches on the property owner's side of the sidewalk and extends across the street to a similar point on the opposite side. It normally includes sidewalks, curbs, gutters, street, alleys and parkways, all of which are considered city property. Any blockage of this right-of-way, any work in the parkway, or plantings other than street trees or grass, requires approval by the Engineering Department.

QUESTION: Can you tell me why it is recommended to mark our home possessions? B.H.

ANSWER: I believe you are referring to burglary prevention. The Police Department has found where residents have positive identification (Social Security or driver's license number) on their possessions and keep an inventory of those possessions, their chances for loss through burglary is greatly reduced; and if they suffer loss, chances for recovery of property are far greater. To encourage this activity the Police Department offers the loan of engraving tools and provides inventory lists and window stickers so residents may help protect their belongings from the always present threat of burglary.

QUESTION: Is there anything we can do to keep parkway trees roots from lifting sections of the sidewalk? A.M.

ANSWER: The City of Upland has long been renowned for its beautiful trees. However, there are several species of trees that were planted many years ago that are the culprits. To help prevent tree roots from buckling sidewalks, curbs and gutters it is recommended that deep watering once a week be done and using the water well method. This encourages the roots to grow downwards in search of water.

QUESTION: Can you tell me the duties of a tree trimmer? M.S.

ANSWER: The tree trimmers for the city are James Wade, Joe Flores and Bill Hallinean. Under general supervision they climb or are hoisted by equipment to areas where trees need trimming; operate hand and power tools in removing branches obstructing the view of motorists or posing a hazard to the public; prune and shape trees to promote better appearance and health; apply tar or other protective substances to cut surfaces to seal them from insects; inspect trees for disease and insects; operate spray equipment in spraying trees with insecticide; repair trees damaged by the elements or equipment by trimming stumps and painting them to prevent bleeding; cut and assist in the removal of undesirable trees; perform minor repairs on tree trimming equipment; may plant, fertilize and water trees; may replace traffic and street light bulbs, may be required to take standby duty; may investigate citizen complaints concerning tree complaints and recommend corrective action; fill out daily and monthly work reports; and maintain up-to-date maps and records pertaining to specific work areas.

Magazine Lauds Chiropractic Treatment For Headaches

By Dr. Wes Helzer, D.C.

An issue of a national health magazine advises headache sufferers that there is greater therapeutic value in modern chiropractic treatment. The magazine "The Health Builder", notes that headaches can be caused by poor posture of the cervical (neck) region of the spinal column because such distortions interfere with spinal nerves that distribute to the head.

Dr. Wes Helzer, D.C.

To illustrate what this technical language means, consider the position of the upper part of the spinal column of a person sleeping on the abdomen. The head has to be turned to one side. Usually it is the same side every night.

This forces a bend in the spinal column — a postural distortion of the spine where nerves which distribute to the head can be affected.

Such a person may well be affected with serious, recuring headaches. Obviously, he must have the spinal misalignment corrected or the problem will continue.

There's a reason that this magazine has finally concluded that headache sufferers are best directed to the modern Doctor of Chiropractic. They have referred to the clinical history of modern Chiropractic and simply found an overwhelming percentage of the people who have consulted Doctors of Chiropractic for headache problems have had spinal disturbances and have recovered health through modern chiropractic care.

I wish more people could be told the value of modern chiropractic in treating the headache problem. I always have profound sympathy for the headache sufferer, and incidentally there's nothing more gratifying than the thanks you get from a person you've helped lick a headache problem that has plagued them over the years.

(Note: Dr. Helzer maintains chiropractic offices at 108 East H. Street, Ontario, telephone: 983-1711.). (C) ARS 1974

Health Tips

Urinary tract infections

EDITOR'S NOTE: Health Tips is a column of the California Medical Education and Research Foundation, prepared and edited by physician members of the California Medical Association. It is reprinted by this newspaper as a public service.

A urinary tract infection occurs when one or more of the organs of the urinary tract — kidneys, bladder, urethra, prostate — are infected with bacteria.

These infections, which are more common in females than males, may be upsetting to a child, but the disorder usually is not serious.

A child with urinary tract infection may complain of a stinging or burning sensation during urination. The urine may be cloudy or it may have an unusually foul odor.

Parents should watch for changes in their child's urinary habits. For example, a child suffering from a urinary tract infection may begin to wet the bed. Some children who are infected may have no symptoms. In infants the problem may go undetected unless they develop more general symptoms, such as fever or abdominal pain.

If you suspect that your child is infected, the doctor should be notified. The doctor can determine if there is a urinary tract infection by performing tests on the child's urine. As with other infections of the body, most urinary tract infections can be treated with an antibacterial drug. The drug prescribed must be taken for seven to 21 days. It is important that a follow-up test of the urine be made to prove that the infection has cleared.

Some children may develop only one infection and no more. Some children may become infected once or twice a year. Other children may become infected every few months. There is no way to predict into which category a particular child will fall when he or she develops the first infection. The doctor usually will treat the first infection and watch the child to see if the infection returns.

Most children eventually will stop having infections, but if the infections recur, they may damage the urinary organs. For this reason, the doctor may recommend that X rays be taken of the child's kidneys, bladder and urethra. Should the X rays and other examinations show some abnormality, the child must be watched closely to prevent further infections.

Cleanliness, improved voiding habits and suppressive doses of antibacterials may help. In some cases, surgery may be necessary to correct an abnormality of the urinary tract. However, very few of the children who develop infections have damaged urinary organs.

Urinary tract infections are not necessarily serious, and many are easily controlled by proper treatment. They should never be ignored since repeated infections may result in severe problems in later years.

Good diet stressed

It is widely recognized that diet is one of the major risk factors associated with coronary heart disease. What can you do about it? The report of the Inter - Society Commission for Heart Disease Resources recommends the following modificatios in diet for the general public and especially those high risk individuals: 1) Achieve amd maintain your ideal weight. 2) Reduce dietary intake of cholesterol to less than 300 mg. per day. 3) Reduce saturated fats in the diet — reduce total fat intake and substitute polyunsaturated fat for saturated fat whenever possible.

TOMORROW'S WOMAN — Eve Burnett (left) of Whittier, Cleora Lekas of Azusa and Winifred Ross of Claremont, selections committee members from the Spanish Trails Girl Scout Council look over material while preparing to make selections for the national Girl Scout event, "Tomorrow's Woman in Public Rleations," to be held June 24 - July 5 at Scripps College campus in Claremont. Purpose of the event is to provide Girl Scouts of senior high school age career exploration in public relations fields, and to visit "behind the scenes" of successful public relations operations.

You and Your Pet

The modern animal hospital

There are a number of pet conditions that require hospital care, and the modern animal hospital is well - equipped to care for seriously ill or injured pets.

Often a pet will be hospitalized because the full nature of its problem cannot be determined by physical examination alone. In such cases, it will undergo hospital laboratory tests. A white blood cell count may be run in order to determine if an infection is present. Other tests may be required to identify the exact kind of infection. A urinalysis is another important test performed in the hospital laboratory by veterinarians or their trained assistants.

X-ray testing is also conducted in a modern animal hospital to diagnose a pet illness. The animal may be given a white liquid substance called barium to swallow so that its body organs can be studied on the x-rays.

If surgery becomes necessary, your pet will be cared for in much the same way as a human would be. Gowns, gloves, drapes and sterile equipment are used along with anesthetics and cardiac monitors. This is done to lower any risk to the pet and to assure that infection does not set in.

In the case of orthopedic surgery, such as when a bone is fractured or a hip needs replacing, specially designed pins, plates, screws and other artificial replacements are available to make necessary repairs.

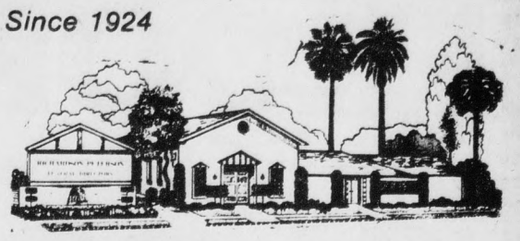

Many veterinarians have become specialists in one kind of surgery. In such cases, a pet with a specific problem will be referred to a specialist in much the same way that a human would be.

Most pets, fortunately, do well in a veterinary hospital. For animals who are highly emotional and need more human attention, most up - to - date animal hospitals have veterinarians who give individual attention and try to substitute the tender loving care pets miss from their owners.

Generally speaking, I do not think it advisable to visit sick animals in the hospital. It gets the animals excited, and they tend to be disappointed when left

Art students show work

Regular hours of the show are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday from March 7 to March 18.

The title of the exhibit, "This is What You Call Your Artist's Art," comes from a comment one of the artists overheard in a gallery. The show includes works in several media.

Aman Folk Ensemble to perform

The Aman Folk Ensemble, Los Angeles' international ballet of ethnic dance and song will perform at the University of California, Riverside at 8 p.m., March 11.

The 18-member group, chamber version of the full 80-member ensemble, will offer a repertoire that spans the globe — from the fast-paced action of Croatia and East Serbia to the traditional American styles of Appalachia.

Aman, the name is a Turkish word meaning joy and peace, recreats on stage the cultures of many countries, including Tunisia, Egypt, Morocco, Yugoslavia, Romania and other Balkan countries, as well as the United States.

Some 75 instruments are utilized in reproducing the actual sounds of the "old country," from the zumarra of 18th Dynasty Egypt to the spoons common to the American hoedown.

Dancers performing in the UCR program are among those who appeared Jan. 8 at the Music Center Pavilion in Los Angeles, which attracted an audience of 3,000.

Formed 11 years ago with five dancers, it now has nearly 80 dancers and musicians.

CHICKEN DISH — Chicken Chasseur is a delicious chicken dish that cooks in just a few minutes. The final touch is wedges of tomatoes added at the last minute and cooked until just tender. Of course it is served over fluffy rice.

Easy chicken dishes: good buy, good taste

If you work all day, you have several choices when it comes to making dinner: (1) Broil a steak (yummy but expensive), (2) Thaw a casserole (assumes that you felt like cooking it and putting it in the freezer), or (3) Start a file of easy- to-prepare- yet- inexpensive recipes. Here's one such recipe to put into your file.

Chicken is usually one of the better buys at the meat counter. And when it is boned and cup in thin strips, it cooks quickly. Then let it simmer in a seasoned broth of mushrooms, onions, and fresh tomatoes with just the right amount of tarragon and the result is delicious.

Rice is perfect as an accompaniment. It takes only minutes to cook and can be started just about the time you have finished sauteeing the chicken. Rice is economical, too ... just 3 cents per half-cup serving! And perhaps best of al, it absorbs all of the delicious gravy from the Chicken Chasseur so you don't lose a drop.

Chicken Chasseur

3 cups hot cooked rice
2 whole chicken breasts, skinned, boned and cut in thin strips (about 1 lb.)
1/3 cup cornstarch
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon dried thyme
2 tablespoons each vegetable oil and butter or margarine
1 cup sliced green onions with tops
1 can (8 oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained
¼ cup dry sherry*
1½ cups chicken broth
½ teaspoon tarragon
3 fresh tomatoes, peeled and cut in eighths.

While rice is cooking, dredge chicken in cornstarch seasoned with salt, pepper, and thyme. In a large skillet heat oil and butter. Add the chicken and saute until brown on all sides. Stir in onions and mushrooms; continue cooking two minutes. Add sherry, broth, and tarragon. Cover and simmer 10 minutes. Stir in tomatoes, replace cover, and cook five minutes longer. Serve over beds of fluffy rice. Garnish with chopped fresh parsley. Makes 6 servings.

* Chicken broth may be substituted for sherry, if desired.

Each serving provides: 294 calories, 2 meat exchanges, 1½ breads exchanges, 2 fat exchanges.

Beef Pomodori

3 cups hot cooked rice
1 pound beef round steak, thinly sliced (cut in 1-inch strips)
2 medium cloves garlic, crushed
2 tablespoons oil
1 cup sliced onions
1/3 cup dry red wine*
1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
1 can (11 oz.) condensed cheddar cheese soup
¾ cup beef broth
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 pounc thinly sliced zucchini (about 3½ cups)

While rice is cooking, brown meat and garlic in oil. Add onions and cook 2 minutes longer. Blend in wine, tomato sauce, soup, brother, and seasonings. Cover and simmer about 30 minutes. Stir in zucchini; replace cover and continue cooking 20 minutes longer. Serve over beds of fluffy rice. Makes 6 servings.

* Substitute beef broth for wine, if desired.

Each serving provides: 359 calories, 2 meat exchanges, 1½ bread exchanges, 1½ fat exchanges, milk.

Lemony fruit sauce

Colorful canned cling peach slices are the basis for a flavorful lemony sauce that tops white fish filets.

Simmer the sauce while the fish is cooking then combine to serve. An appealing way to vary everyday menus.

Fruited Filipino Fish

1 can (29 ounce) cling peach slices
1 medium onion, diced
1 clove garlic, minced
1 small green pepper, thinly sliced
¼ to ½ cup oil
3 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 drop hot pepper sauce
½ teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons brown sugar
½ cup water
2 pounds fish filets (snapper, cod, sole, etc.)
Salt and pepper
1 tablespoon cornstarch

Drain peaches, saving ½ cup syrup. Saute onion, garlic and green pepper in 2 tablespoons oil until tender.

Add lemon juice, lemon rind, hot sauce, ginger, salt, brown sugar, water and peach syrup. Simmer while frying fish in remaining oil with salt and pepper to taste. When fish is white and flakes with a fork, remove to serving platter. Blend cornstarch with a tablespoon of cold water and add to sauce to thicken.

Stir in peaches and continue cooking until they are hot. Pour sauce over fish and serve.

Serves 4 - 6.

Presbyterian youth to hold 30-hour fast

About 25 youths of the La Verne Heights Presbyterian Church will begin a 30-hour fast Friday in an effort to understand and help the world hunger problem.

Karl Shadley, youth director, said the fast will have a two-fold purpose: "We hope that most of the youth participating in the program will stay together during the fast so that while we identify with hunger, we can also learn about it."

Shadley explained that many factors contribute to hunger — affluent lifestyles, population, the energy crisis and other factors.

"We'll learn about them through audiovisuals and other program materials and discuss how we can be part of the long-range solution," he said.

The Fast-30 Hunger Program also has a practical side, Shadley noted. The youth will contribute money of their own to participate in the program. They'll then seek sponsors — friends and neighbors — to contribute donations. The sponsors will also be asked to skip one meal and to pass along a program fact sheet to two other individuals so they can be involved.

"We hope to be able to raise at least $500," Shadley said. "That would help feed a village of 125 people for one month."

The funds will be channeled to help hungry people through the United Presbyterian Church Mission Service and World Vision International.

For more information about the program or to help the church youth meet their goal, call Shadley, (714) 593-1017.

Father Dave Tobin to open Christian Renewal Mission

Father Dave Tobin, a Redemptorist missionary priest, will open the Christian Renewal Mission Sunday at Our Lady of Lourdes Church in Montclair. Father Tobin will speak at all masses.

The schedule for the week March 13 — 19 will include a daily Mass at 10:00 a.m. with confessions and private counseling 11: a.m. - noon and 1-3 p.m.

The Main Christian Renewal Service (Instructions, Euchrist followed by confession) will be heard at 7:30 p.m. by the faithful "who have tried to always be faithful to the Christian way of life and for those who havee ecome careless perhaps because of too much wealth and too many pleasures or because we have drifted away because of some of the Vatican 11 changes," said a church spokesperson.

Father Tobin will speak to school students and to those in CCD religion classes. High school students are urged to attend the evening services.

Father Tobin worked with Mexican immigrants in Wisconsin, was a priest in the Ghetto parish in St. Louis, and taught American history and political science. He was a director of children's summer camp in Alaska and a missionary throughout western United States. He is stationed at St. Anthony Seminary in Santa Barbara.

"This mission is for everyone, the good, the bad, the young, the old and all the everybodies in between," said the spokesperson. Christ is always calling us to renew our faith and this is the prime time to get in tune with the moving church and rededicate our lives in the love of God which is so important in these days of change and challenge."

Babysitters will be available for 7:30 p.m. for young families wishing to attend. Parishioners are encouraged to invite neighbors and friends who would be interested in attending.

Adventists to conduct stop smoking clinic

The Covina Seventh-day Adventist Church will kick off Los Angeles County Community Health Week with a free five-day stop smoking clinic.

Beginning 7:30 p.m. Sunday, five daily 1½ hour sessions to help people, "kick the habit" will be held at the church, 1067 E. Badillo Ave. Registration will begin at 7 p.m. Sunday.

Clinic will be conducted by Dr. Alan Johlman and pastor Odell, both from San Dimas, and Dr. Henry Doll from Covina, with their trained staff: Arabelle Johlman and Cheryl Huckleberry from San Dimas, Marie Toenniessen from La Verne, and Evangeline Murphy from Covina.

The clinic is designed for busy, pressured people and to reduce discomfort to a minimum.

"It is a successful international program of group therapy, films, lectures and demonstrations, the Buddy system, and your own personal control book to follow each day," Odell said.

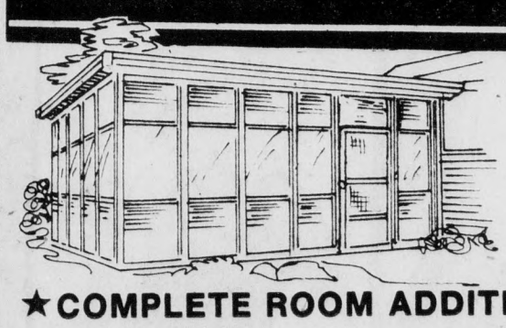

"While there may be some discomfort, many heavy smokers have quickly stopped and expressed genuine satisfaction every step of the plan. You will find it far easier to quit under this controlled program. Thousands have quit smoking who never thought they could," he added.

For information, or to volunteer to share a personal experience with the "5-Day Plan," call Mrs. Toenniessen, (714) 593-1889.

West End Symphony Orchestra

Moon to lead concert

Celebrating its 15th season, the West End Symphony Orchestra will present its annual spring concert 2:30 p.m. Sunday in conjunction with the Chaffey College Concert Choir. Free to the public, the event will be held in Gardiner Spring Auditorium at Chaffey High School, Ontario.

Directing the orchestra for the third year is G. Keith Moon, widely respected among concert goers for his fresh and innovative ideas in programming.

The annual Children's Concert which he conducted in Ontario Feb. 10 won enthusiastic response from the 5,000 grade school youngsters who attended, and brought scores of complimentary letters from them after the event.

Sunday's program will consist of two major works: "Symphony in G Minor, No. 40," by Mozart, and the cantata, "Carmina Burana," by Carl Orff, which will include the 65 voices of the college choir accompanied by an augmented orchestra.

The choir, prepared by Joyce Shannon, chairwoman of the Chaffey College Music Department, has appeared many times with the West End Symphony, most recently in November of 1975 in the performance of "Symphony of Psalms" by Igor Stravinsky.

"Orff's "Carmina Burana" is one of the most popular of large choral works to be composed in the 20th century," said an orchestra spokesperson. "Bursting with exciting rhythms and colorful orchestrations, the music is set to medieval texts celebrating the pleasures of spring, love, and the earthly delights of the tavern and the gaming table."

Singing the "very demanding" solos in "Carmina Burana" will be tenor Mathew Scully of Upland and soprano Kristine Kent of Los Angeles.

Scully is well - known in the community as a member of the Chaffey High School Music faculty, and has appeared as soloist recently in the Greek Theater in Los Angeles in the performance of Mendelssohn's "Walpurgis Nacht." He is also former director of the Upland Presbyterian Church choir.

Kristine Kent is currently working with the University of Souther California Opera Theater, where she sang a leading role in the fall production of Benjamin Britten's "Midsummer Night's Dream."

Susan Scott of Ontario, a freshman music major at Chaffey College, will sing one of the soprano solos, "Amor volat undique."

Miss Scott is a member of the Chaffey College Concert Ensemble.

Sponsors of the concert are the Chaffey College Community Services, the West End Symphony Orchestra Association, headed by Betty Fryman of Alta Loma, and the Chaffey College Music Department.

Japanese pianist to perform

Minoru Nojima, called "Japan's greatest pianist," will perform 7:30 p.m. Sunday at the Mt. San Antonio College social science auditorium.

Tickets, $4 for general admission and $2 for students, may be obtained through the MSAC Community Services Office. Phone and mail orders may be charged to Master Charge or BankAmericard.

Nojima's repertoire includes works from Beethoven, Brahms, Haydn, Liszt, Mendelssohn, Mozart, Ravel and Tchaikovsky.

He began his piano studies at age 3 with Japan's leading teacher, Aiko Iguchi. At 15 he entered the famous Toho Music School and three years later received the First Grand Prize in Japan's nationwide Music Concours.

He was immediately hailed as one of the greatest keyboard talents of Japan, and in 1966 was awarded a special scholarship by the government of the Soviet Union to study in Moscow for two years under Lev Oborin.

Nojima continued his studies in America under the direction of Constance Keene and Abram Chasins.
